

We've got the builders in...

Bulletin 1 - October 2017

- * Local building company H Wilson, Alfriston, Ltd have been appointed as general building contractor on the project.
- * millimetre design uk will be constructing and installing the new footbridge.
- * Morgan Carn Partnership are the architects overseeing the whole project.

Work began on 2nd October when the builders got set up and started installing the new raised floor and ramps in the lower ground floor and Magazine areas of the Museum.

Later in the year, millimetre will install the concrete block in the moat which will support the bridge. The base plate for the lift will be manufactured and installed. The bridge itself will follow in December or January, but all the outside work depends on the weather!
